THANKSGIVING SERVICES AT BELLEVUE

The many friends of Mr. Irwin will be glad to welcome him back to Bellevue. SHOOTING AT BURMIS

As a result of a shot fired by some party, Mrs. John Dobek was taken to the Bellevue hospital at an early hour on Tuesday morning, and examination discovered a bullet wound in the shoulder and a badly shattered shoulder blade. The woman's condition is reported serious.

The police were immediately notified of the affair and the woman's husband, John Dobek, aged fifty, was placed under arrest and is now lodged in the Blairmore jail awaiting developments.

Mr. and Mrs. Dobek have been residing on a ranch immediately west of and adjoining the Cameron ranch, about 1 1/2 miles directly south of Burmis. The shooting is believed to have followed domestic difficulties. The bullet was a soft nose .34 calibre. No charge has yet been preferred against Dobek.

There are five children in the family.

COUNCIL MEETING

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Blairmore town council was held on Monday night, Mayor Farmer and Councillors Patterson, G.H. Morgan, Hays, Sartoris and Ferguson present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read and three accounts were passed for payment.

Mr. Harper, in behalf of the Greenhill Hotel, waited upon the council, asking for exemption from license for periodical dances that may be held at the Greenhill Grill. Under the existing by-laws, a fee of $5.00 for such dance has been exacted. The by-laws are now being revised and until such time as they are completed, or until further notice, no such license fee would be collected from the Greenhill Grill dances.

Mr. Williams, secretary of the local miners' union, appealed to the council for assistance to the family of a brother miner. Council instructed the relief committee to look into the case and issue any relief urgently necessary.

The Procedure By-Law received its third reading and was finally passed, with the signature of the mayor and secretary and the seal of the town.

Communication from Mr. J. E. Smith, business manager of the West Canadian Collieries, ancient vandalism perpetrated during Halloween, was ordered acknowledged and filed. This letter complained of damage to sidewalks and other property of the company, also of obscene writings on windows.

The electrician was instructed to make a special effort to collect light and water arrears. Following due notice, light and water may be cut off from any who refuse to pay or come to some reasonable terms with the town.

In connection with the account of the Macleod hospital for board and treatment of Mrs. E. Russell, the council decided to issue a cheque, paying the account up to date, and to notify the Macleod hospital that from this date the town will not be held liable in this connection.

MAN WHO BROKE PAROLE IS CAPTURED AT NATAL

FERNIE, B.C., Oct. 31.—Following distribution of circular covering "persons wanted" from district headquarters of the B.C. provincial police, by Sgt. Greenwood recently, one Edward James Perry, 54, was taken into custody Saturday by Const. T. Smith of the Natal detachment for having broken his parole by failing to report since 1924, prior to which time he had been released from Dorchester, N.S., penitentiary, after serving 13 years of a 20-year sentence for manslaughter.

When accosted by Const. Smith, Perry denied his identity at first but subsequently acknowledged he was the party wanted. He was travelling by motor with a companion who gives his name as Blanchard Earle and their destination they allege was Vancouver. The B.C. provincial police were requested by the R.C.M.P. to look out for Perry, whose description was also furnished, with the above results.

Advice from Ottawa just received states warrant is being forwarded and in the meantime Perry is being held here and also his travelling companion, whom the authorities believe is known to the Calgary police as "Whitie."

Alec McCool, formerly of Natal, but now of Vancouver, was in the city last week end. On Saturday and Sunday he visited Kimberley on business. Mr. McCool was formerly connected with a Natal hotel, but he is now representing a Vancouver real estate firm.—Cranbrook Herald.

LOCAL SCHOOL GIRL HONOURED

The following letter is self explanatory. Miss Ethel Cartwright is a pupil of the local school, who has just passed into Grade IX. Being only sixteen years of age, she is most deserving of commendation for her success. This is the second time that the local school has figured in the governor-general's bronze medal awards, the former being Miss Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Farmer, who received a similar medal several years ago.

Following is the letter received by Miss Cartwright:

"Edmonton, Alberta,

October 26, 1926.

My Dear Miss Ethel:

I have the pleasure to present to you the Bronze Medal donated by His Excellency Lord Byng, former Governor-General of Canada, and awarded to you as the candidate receiving the highest marks in the Macleod Inspectorate at the Public School leaving examinations in June, 1926.

I should be pleased if you would forward to me an acknowledgment of this Medal in your own handwriting. In order that I may send it to Lord Byng, who will, I am sure, be specially pleased to hear from you, now that he has left Canada and is living in his old home in England.

With hearty congratulations on your success, I am,

Yours truly,

PERRIN BAKER,

Minister of Education.

Miss Ethel Cartwright,

RAPID TRANSIT IS PROPOSED BY AIR ROUTES

London.—From London to Canada in two and a half days, to India in five days, to Cape Town in six days, to Australia in 11 days and to New Zealand in 13 days. These were the possibilities of the air which Sir Samuel Hoare, British air minister, submitted to the Imperial Conference. "There is today no technical or operational reason," Sir Samuel declared, "why, by airplane, London should not be brought within a fortnight of the farthest cities and territories of the Empire." Sir Samuel devoted himself to civil aviation and proposed the organization of long distance Empire air routes beginning in the Far East and from Australia to Cape Town on the moonic plan. "We must," he said, "teach of us to insert our particular stone in the design."

His proposed Sir Samuel also involved no subsidy. It involved nothing more than co-operation between one government and another, and between military and service flying. Sir Samuel pressed that the Dominions and Dependencies should create and maintain landing grounds in good order. He held that the airplane would carry out the long distance, non-stop air journeys of the future and indicated that two airplanes were now being built in England which should, with a normal load of freight and passengers, be able to fly without refueling in good weather a distance of 4,000 miles. There would be provisions decks outside the cabins, and ample smoking and dining rooms.

The airplane and airplane were really complementary to each other, the minister said. It was necessary to organize both along the lines of long distance flying, the airplane being valuable for short stage traffic and particularly needed at present when the airplane program was still in the experimental stage.

Two Thousand Buffalo Will Be Slaughtered

Necessary to Reduce Herd at Wainwright National Park

Ottawa.—Two thousand buffalo now in Wainwright National Park are to be killed by order of the department of the interior. In the past three years the buffalo population of the park has increased so rapidly that it has been found necessary to resort to killing some of the animals and shipping others to the Wood Buffalo park where they are able to live off the land.

In Wainwright park there is only room for about 8,000 head. In 1924 some 2,000 had to be killed. In 1925, about 2,000 were shipped to the park area in Northern Alberta. This year the park authorities were confronted with the problem of disposing of nearly 12,000 head of buffalo. During the summer 2,000 were sent north and 2,000 are to be killed. It is understood that tenders are being called for slaughtering contracts.

"The slaughtering of 2,000 buffalo will mean that Canadians once more will have the chance to buy fresh buffalo steaks. The Government does not interfere with distribution and in 1924 it was a popular dish as far East as Montreal."

Greeks Object To Re-Opening Schools

Recent Order Which Makes Teaching of Italian Compulsory

London.—A Reuters despatch from Athens states that travellers arriving from Kalamos in the Dodecanese report that the islanders throw stones and dynamite cartridges at Italian sailors who landed from a destroyer in an effort to compel the Greek authorities to re-open their schools. The schools have been closed because of an order making the teaching of Italian compulsory. No casualties were reported, and the sailors withdrew. Confirmation of the report has not been obtained.

Will Unite East And West

Premier Gardiner of Saskatchewan Has Faith in Future of the Hudson Bay Road

Saskatoon.—Discussing the effect of the completion of the Hudson's Bay Road, at the banquet tendered by the board of trade here, Premier Gardiner said in part: "To Saskatchewan completion of the Hudson's Bay Road means the opening up of that great strip of productive territory between Saskatchewan and Churchill rivers. It means the cutting of the distance to Liverpool by a thousand miles during four or five months of the year and provides a fourth outlet for the growing production of Western Canada. Just as the opening up of the crowded area of the West added to the national prosperity, so will it increase through the building of the Hudson's Bay line. To Canada it promises assistance in the solution of the problems of the Maritimes, which are the equal of certain questions confronting Confederation today. The Maritimes, with their coal, iron and timber, can develop a manufacturing industry based upon the existence of these two minerals in one area, which will give new life and hope to the people of that area, because the Hudson's Bay route and storage at the Bay will place them at the front door to the Western markets, making it possible for them to compete with the central part of Canada and the United States on equal terms. In addition to carrying the broadening effects from the Rockies to the Hudson's Bay, this road should unite East and West as no other transportation undertaking has done, thus encouraging national unification in Canada."

"The national characteristics of the British race will cause our doubts to disappear in the interests of Empire when the first season of operation is to the Bay has passed into history. Those seamen whose ancestors have braved the dangers of the straits for two hundred and fifty years, those seamen whose ancestors bore the names of Drake, Frobisher and Hawkins, those seamen upon whose faith in the navy more than once the future of the Empire has rested, those seamen whose ancestors fought two naval battles in the Bay in the eighteenth century, those men will find ways and means to stretch the four months' season set down by tenderfoot engineers into six or more months. All the conveniences of this age are in their favor, and they would be unworthy sons of worthy fathers did they not see in the Hudson's Bay route not only the interests of Saskatchewan, the interests of Canada, but the interests of an Empire more closely knit together by a trade route the shortest to the Orient and unmistakably British."

No Signal From Mars

British Astronomers Fail to Catch Any Sign of Life From Neighboring Planet

London.—Mars, which just now is edging a little closer to the earth than ordinarily, failed to flash an SOS or any other signals which might alert British astronomers or eager listeners at the radio, but thousands of enthusiastic stargazers and others remained hopefully on the job.

The biggest telescope in Greenwich Observatory worked overtime to satisfy the scientific search for knowledge of Mars' hidden mysteries, but in vain. A 14-valve superheterodyne receiving set, installed by a wireless magazine, also functioned as best it could, but no interplanetary sounds, signs or symbols were trapped.

The Martians, if there are such and if they have been engaged in an attempt to communicate with Mother Earth, will have to try again.

SASK. CABINET IS REDUCED TO SEVEN MINISTERS

Saskatoon.—Re-arrangements in the Saskatchewan Government as the result of the resignation of Hon. A. P. McNab as Minister of Public Works were announced here by Premier J. G. Gardiner. No new minister has been appointed and the portfolios have been reduced from eight to seven. Mr. Gardiner was one of the speakers later in the evening at a Hudson's Bay Railway banquet staged by the Saskatoon Board of Trade.

Relinquishing the portfolio of minister of highways, Mr. Gardiner took over the railway portfolio and also became provincial treasurer. Hon. W. J. Patterson drops the treasurership and takes over highways and also retains his post as minister of telephones.

The portfolio of public works was relinquished by Mr. McNab to become the charge of Hon. J. M. Uhrich who also retains his previous portfolio as minister of health. Mr. Uhrich, however, gives up his post as provincial secretary to Hon. T. G. Davis, the latter adding this to his other duties as minister of municipal affairs and minister in charge of the bureau of labor.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, premier of Saskatchewan, was the chief guest of honor at the banquet. With him were associated Hon. John Bracken, premier of Manitoba, while Hon. W. H. Muir, federal minister of agriculture, Hon. J. A. Cross, attorney-general for Saskatchewan; Hon. A. P. McNab, minister of public works; Hon. T. G. Davis, minister of municipal affairs; R. McIntosh, M.P.; Fred Johnson, M.P.; Malcolm McLean, M.P.; and numerous provincial members sat at the chief guest table.

Civic chiefs, representatives of educational institutions, addresses from nearby cities and towns were present to assist in celebrating the fact that the Bay road is now complete with the exception of the last 96 miles to Port Nelson.

The occasion was also seized to publicly bid Hon. Archie McNab farewell upon his retirement from the provincial government. High tribute was paid to "Archie" by numerous speakers. Premier Gardiner particularly praising Saskatchewan's oldest member of the Government.

Reasons Canada Gets Unsuitable Emigrants

System of British Dole Responsible Says Sir Percival Phillips

London.—Introducing a series of articles by Sir Percival Phillips on the expansion of Canada and trade prospects there, The Daily Mail in an editorial says the policy of Canada is swayed with sympathy and satisfaction by Great Britain.

"Today the Canadian people are our best customers. The custom of each Canadian is seven times as valuable as the custom of an American citizen. One dark spot in our relations with Canada is the difficulty of supplying her with suitable emigrants. Unless the system of dole and restriction on her relief is changed in Britain, there will be risk that Canada, like the United States, will be swamped with a polyglot immigration from central and Eastern Europe."

Thousands Hurt And Killed In Armenia

Near East Relief Caring For Victims Of Earthquake

Constantinople.—Soviet officials here received reports from Erivan stating that more than 5,000 persons were killed or injured in the recent earthquake in Armenia. The villages of Akhebekh, Yonibayazian and Dzhikizine, were destroyed. Churches along the line from Ghemra to Erivan suffered heavily.

The Near East Relief is caring for the homeless and the Trans-Caucasian Federation has sent 50,000,000 rubles for the relief of the sufferers.

It is believed that Turkish territory was not touched by the quake since no reports concerning it have been received from the Turkish district near Armenia.

He contented himself with sipping a little hot water, as he never touches food for two days prior to an ocean voyage.

Asking Justice For Canadian Magazines

Removal of Unfair Advantage Given U.S. Publications Is Requested

Ottawa.—Asking that they be asked common justice for Canadian magazines in competition with the United States publications and periodicals, members of the Magazine Publishers' Association of Canada went to Ottawa to present their case before the advisory board of tariff and taxation.

The association presented a number of resolutions passed by national bodies and gave details of various suggested forms of relief and left decision in the best form of such relief to the impartial judgment of the tariff board.

Canada imports annually more than fifty million copies of United States magazines, many containing purely advertising matter which affects Canadian industry in general.

The association will ask removal of what it considers "unfair and unfair advantages at present conferred in Canada upon foreign publications," favors secured at a time when Canada was small and a foreign circulation was not feared.

Proposal Does Not Please Mine Owners

Unfriendly Toward Arbitration On Wages To End Coal Strike

London.—Laborers' claim that financial pressure is being brought to bear on the British government to intervene once more to get the coal strike settled, and some of their leaders are openly claiming that Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is prepared to finance the resumption of work, provided there is arbitration on wages but not on hours of labor.

"Empire" Cook will not listen to such a proposal, and the owners do not seem very friendly toward it. Meanwhile it is understood that Premier Baldwin is not willing to intervene unless practical proposals are placed before him and his government by the miners.

Would Return War Booty

Moroccan Government Asks Confiscation of Rifian War Lord's Property

Madrid.—The Moroccan Government has issued a decree calling for the confiscation of the property of Abd-el-Krim, the former Rifian war lord, who has fled to the British colony of Reunion Island in the Indian Ocean, and his followers. The decree specifies that all the cattle and grain which Krim seized during his warfare against the French and Spanish forces shall be returned to the former owners.

AIR OF MYSTERY SURROUNDS THE IMPERIAL PARLEY

London.—An air of extraordinary mystery now surrounds the Imperial conference. All the delegates are warm in their contention that it is a conference, not a cabinet, but no Downing Street cable ever guarded its secrets more jealously.

Delegates in silk hats drive up. Messengers hurry with red dispatch boxes. Policemen hustle a few curious onlookers to the other side of the street. The slim turbaned figure of the personal guard of Sir Moly Chand Mahab, Maharajahadhipra Bahadur of Burdwan, the Indian delegate to the conference, advances under the foreign office archway.

That is all that is now seen of the great conference from the outside. Twice a day a dwindling crowd of newspapermen gather in the office of the Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs and solemnly admire a Rubens hanging on the wall. With poised pens and beated breath they listen while the official spokesmen of the conference give what purports to be a story of the conference doings. But it is not very illuminating.

"Do you want names?" he wearily asks.

Wearily the newspapermen shake their heads indicating that they don't want them. They have had them many times before.

The official spokesman gives the newspapermen the time the counter once met and the time it adjourned, also the subject discussed.

And that is all the newspapermen now officially know of the conference from the inside.

As a result the conference proceedings are not the least attention from the London newspapers. Some of the more tolerant ones among them print the conference official communiques. For the most part the indignant editors consign it to oblivion.

NOT NECESSARY TO DRY TOUGH AND DAMP GRAIN

Winnipeg.—The drying of tough and damp grain will not be ordered at the present time, it was the moderate view of straight grain wheat be raised. These two questions formed the main topic for discussion at a meeting before the board of grain commissioners here. Public and private elevator interests and the Canadian pools were represented and many of the local grain traders took advantage of the sitting to listen to the proceedings.

Following a lengthy discussion as to whether it was advisable to order the drying of tough grain at this period, it was ultimately decided to defer any action, but the board made it plain that should the necessity arise, it would take drastic action to save the crop from wasting. The chairman also intimated that the press might, through its columns, advise farmers who have shipped tough and damp grain, to instruct their commission men to have this dried and so prevent loss from deterioration. It was thought by certain terminal representatives that drying of tough damp wheat should not be delayed longer, but a speaker on behalf of the pool and a shipper's representative both expressed the opinion that tough wheat was shipping out faster than the straight stuff, and that meantime they held no fears for delayed export.

With regard to the moisture test, several interesting facts were related. Chief Inspector Fraser, in answer to a question, intimated that the present test applied in the process of inspecting, the 14 per cent of grain containing more than 14 per cent of moisture, grading straight. A representative of the Alberta wheat pool stated that it had come to his notice that at many points in his province, farmers marketing at country points where there was no government inspector, were having their grain graded tough if it contained more than 14 per cent moisture. The pool had applied to the commissioners for the raising of the test to 15 per cent, but their representative stated that following a conference with the chief inspector, the board of commissioners and others, they were satisfied that the present test was satisfactory to them.

Produce Films In B.C.

Canadian Moving Picture Concern to Establish Film Production Plant

Victoria, B.C.—Famous Players Lasky Corporation, of the United States, is planning to establish a film production plant, it was announced today in connection with the incorporation, which officials of the company put through at the parliament buildings this morning, the $150,000 Famous Players Canadian Corporation Ltd., of Toronto and Vancouver, as an extra provincial organization intended to undertake business here. The concern is now branching out into an international organization and besides production in Canada, will extend its production in England, it was explained.

Fuel Famine Faces Europe

BIRDS OF WESTERN CANADA

A volume of unusual public interest has just been issued by the Victoria Memorial Museum. This is a colorfully illustrated work on the "Birds of Western Canada," by P. A. T. Verrier, ornithologist. It contains 388 pages of text matter, 315 text figures and 84 colored plates, and is large and fuller than "The Birds of Eastern Canada," published a few years ago.

It contains full descriptive matter for distinguishing the different species of birds, notes on the nesting habits and distribution, and is crammed with interesting and vivid description setting forth the life histories and habits of the feathered creatures. The numerous illustrations are of the kind that illustrate, and many of the colored plates are excellent reproductions of what in their class may be considered real works of art.

This volume should be in every school room of Western Canada. It is one that no student of natural history or bird lover in Canada can afford to be without. It is, sold in heavy paper covers at seventy-five cents and can be had on application to the Director, Victoria Memorial Museum, Ont. 1934.

"SAVE THE FOREST" WEEK TOO LATE IN THE YEAR

Canada has been observing "Save the Forest" week in October. Why "save the forest" this late in the year when—as far as the west is concerned—tourists and campers are things of the past—for this year at least. Let's change the date to May or June, just before the camper starts to overhaul his equipment to go on the road!—Commercial Review.

GENERAL TAX FOR SCHOOLS URGED

EDMONTON, Oct. 30.—The question of having all tax collection under one authority in municipal districts, will be one of outstanding importance at the eighteenth annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts, which is to be held in Calgary on November 24th, 25th and 26th.

The convention program, just off the press, contains a resolution from the executive, giving support to the establishment of one taxing authority, this meaning that as far as possible school taxes should be collected by the municipal offices.

The executive also urges in another resolution that rural schools be maintained (1) by a graduated government tax; (2) by a levy made by the municipal districts on all rateable lands, improvements and business within the district, sufficient to produce at least $500 per year per school room, the levy to be known as the "general school rate"; (3) by a levy on lands within each organized school district sufficient to meet the balance required by the said district for the year, this to be known as the "special rate"; (4) that all such levies be collected by the municipality and paid over to the school districts.

Perrin Baker, minister of education, will address the convention on the afternoon of the opening day. George Wadley, minister of agriculture, will speak Thursday morning, and Premier Broinville and R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, will speak in the afternoon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works, will speak Friday morning.

Lending a Hand to Mother Nature

1. Stripping the malt cut-throat trout.
2. Over and over again, the trout are being put into the open mesh baskets in the floating position in the fishery units.

Unfortunately Mother Nature made no provision for the growing army of Isak Waltons in her scheme of things. Man supplements nature in re-stocking the trout streams of the Canadian Pacific Rockies, through the agency of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, which conducts artificial cut-throat spawning and hatching operation in the Rockies each spring.

Authorities have estimated that only about three percent of all cut-throat trout, eggs naturally spawned, hatch. The reason given is the desire of fish spawning at other times to feed on the newly laid eggs with the result that the male cut-throat, after driving off the females, fertilizes the eggs too late, when they have absorbed so much water that they cannot absorb the fertilizing fluid.

From 87 to 90 percent of eggs artificially spawned at Banff and Spray Lakes, hatch under artificial methods. This is how it is done:

Towards the end of March just before spawning time the trout are caught in nets, stripped, and returned to the streams, while the eggs from the female and fertilizing fluid from the male cut-throat are mixed. In ten weeks the young fry is ready for its new home in the trout stream where it reaches the length of over eight inches in about four years.

The annual spring harvest of cut-throat eggs at Spray Lakes—each female giving from 800 to 1,300 eggs—is about three-quarters of a million. At present 524,524 Lake Leven trout eggs, 172,913 Lake Superior Salmon Trout, 515,906 Rainbow, and 5,600,000 Pickeral eggs are hatching in the Banff Hatchery. The hatchery for 1936 will also include one million cut-throat eggs imported from Wisconsin and 250,000 from Spray Lakes, making a total of over eight and a half million eggs hatched in the Canadian Pacific Rockies to provide sport for anglers.

The outstanding example of the good results accruing from this work began in 1914, is the growing annual catch of Lake Superior Salmon Trout at Lake Minnewanka, about nine miles from the C.P.R. Banff Springs Hotel, while Spray Lakes, an easy riding trip from the hotel is still the favorite cut-throat fishing area in the Rockies, where fishing is as good as ever in spite of the growing number of anglers.

A grand masquerade ball, in aid of the Wood's Orphan Home at Olds, will be held in the opera house at Coleman tomorrow night, under the auspices of Sentinel Lodge No. 25, Knights of Pythias. Prizes will be awarded for the best representative lady and gent, best dressed lady and gent and comics. The Melody Boys' orchestra will furnish music.

An Oklahoma girl advertised for a husband and landed him in a short time. The ad. cost $5.00, the wedding $60.00, a total for advertising and the wedding of $65.00. The husband lived less than a year and left her a life insurance policy for $11,000. And yet there are a lot of fellows sitting around on soap boxes who say it does not pay to advertise.

A coyote that ventured to cross over Blairmore on Sunday night was light royally entertained by practically all the dogs in town. The visitor tried all the points of the compass for safe and easy means of exit, but was confronted at every angle by canines that threatened his dear life. Eventually he made his escape into the hills on the south side of the town.

Much of the damage done by the grownups on Halloween night had to be repaired and removed articles replaced the following night under police supervision, and should serve as a lesson to those who take pleasure in the wanton destruction of property. The little tots enjoyed themselves immensely and were welcomed and entertained generally.

Here and There

Portage La Prairie, Manitoba.—Ten carloads of flour have been shipped to Salonika, Greece. The flour is made from Manitoba Number 1 hard wheat and labeled as such. This large order is thought by the milling interests to represent the opening up of a new, valuable trade channel.

Saskatoon.—The colonization branch of the provinces, operating under the C.P.R. Department of Colonization, are doing a splendid work in colonizing the province along right lines, according to Mayor Poyer, of Saskatoon, and other speakers at the second annual meeting of representatives of those towns.

While the gypsy has been a familiar figure in fiction for at least a century, the novelist has usually taken for his character the wild Romany types. But there is a modern type who has adapted himself to city life. It is this type that John Murray Gibson, Dean of Publicity of the C.P.R., has chosen for the leading character in his new novel, "Eyes of a Gypsy."

WORLD'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

The oldest newspaper in the world is probably the Tsou-Fou-Koum-Pao, now the official government journal published in Peking, China. This newspaper recently celebrated its thousandth anniversary, and apparently has made a good start on its second millennium without showing any traces of age.

Speaking at the United church conference at Edmonton, Rev. Thomas Powell, mission superintendent, made the statement that if one-tenth of the wheat grown in Alberta this year were devoted to religious work, to say nothing of other produce of natural wealth, it would be ten times as much as all denominations, Protestant and Catholic, are giving now.

In order to comply with the law, that piece of legislation applicable only to New Brunswick and Maine, where there is hunting nowhere but in the timber, compelling hunters to wear white suits, is effective in Alberta during the big game season. The regulation was meant to cut down the yearly fatalities in the hunting fields. The average hunter is puzzled to know how to keep his suit white while on the job, and how on earth, in Alberta at least, he could get within shooting distance of any game while wearing such attractive apparel.

DESK MOTTOES

By Newman Levy in "Life"

Above my desk three signs are nailed—

They're printed neat and nice—

A time of need they're never failed to give me good advice.

For instance, when I'm tired of work, Which frequently occurs,

A strong desire to loaf and shrink Within my bosom stirs.

I scent afar the tang of brine On some cool sea-girt sale;

I thrill with joy, and on my sign I read "Smile, Earn 'em, Smile."

I dream of cloudless golden days, Of gently rippling streams,

The glen where mottled sunlight plays, The splash of trout gleams.

I must admit the word goes well, And to their will I bow.

I read my motto on the wall— It tells me "Do It Now!"

I'll do it now! Old sign, you're right. I'm through with work for good.

I'll quit my job this very night, I'm off for field and wood.

And as I leave that desk of mine My conscience it is clear.

For there above it hangs a sign That says "No Parking Here."

Mr. Almond, of Corbin, B.C., is one of the promoters of the fox ranch, opposite Rock Creek, near Lundbreck.

Considerable preparatory work has been done on the ranch and several pairs of foxes will be located there in the course of a few days. Mr. Almond was in Blairmore a few days ago and will shortly move his family down from Corbin.

The most successful whist drive and social of the season was staged at the Lodge Hall on Friday night last by Greenhill Temple, Pythian Sisters.

Fully 100 attended. Twenty-eight tables of whist were operated, the prizes being awarded as follows:

Ladies' first, Mrs. Thibodeau; second, Miss A. Carter; consolation, Mrs. D. Martin.

Gents' first, Mr. E. Hornquist; second, Mr. F. Waincock; consolation, Mr. J. McPhail.

The evening was served and dancing was indulged in for several hours. A feature of the dance programme was the novelty dance, prizes being awarded to Miss O. McLaren and Mr. Hilling.

The draw for the luncheon set was made, the lucky ticket being held by Mrs. Jones, of Coleman.

THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blairmore Enterprise, 1911)

October 27.—Since our announcement last week that, in spite of the pleadings of a goodly number of the ratepayers of Blairmore, Mr. Thomas Frayer declines to be a candidate for the mayoralty in the forthcoming elections. Numerous expressions of regret are made. Many had hoped to see Mr. Frayer continue to take the most important position on the town council, which position he has filled with credit to himself and with satisfaction to those who have been most interested in the progress of Blairmore.

Rev. Clarence Vergil Thompson, Richeson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church of Cambridge, Massachusetts, is charged with poisoning a young girl that he might marry an other.

Violet Stewart, a person of undesirable character, was up before Justices Belcher and Gresham at Bellevue, charged with having stolen goods to the value of $50 from a room mate of hers, and also with having taken poison with intent to commit suicide. She was remanded to stand trial at Calgary.

November 3.—G. D. Martin, Covey school teacher, accompanied by his sisters, Miss Martin, of Cowley, and Miss Martin, of Calgary, visited Frank and Bellevue during the week.

The Slavonic people of Bellevue are taking keen interest in the re-opening of classes in English, in connection with the Bellevue church. Rev. Mr. Irwin will be glad to meet any of the men of that nationality who are desirous of learning the English language and the principles of Canadian citizenship.

Rev. J. F. Hunter, of Blairmore, preached in Knox Methodist church at Frank on Sunday evening last.

President Powell, of District 18, U. M. W. of A., came to town on Tuesday and is doing all in his power to hasten a settlement of the strike.

The Crows' Nest Pass Hardware Company are installing a steamheating system in the new Blairmore opera house.

J. E. Davidson, formerly of Cowley, but now of Truro, N.S., was in town this week. While here he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lank.

L. C. Gales and A. E. Hamel, who have been carrying on a grocery business here, are this week announcing a dissolution of partnership. In future the business will be carried on by Mr. Gales.

Madame Sherry will be the big attraction at the opera house on Wednesday next.

At the polls yesterday, Mr. H. E. Lyon was elected mayor, with a majority of eleven over W. A. Beebe. Messrs. Archie McLeod, Charles Chestnut, D. A. Sinclair, John Gaskill Smith, Louis Dutil and James H. Farmer were elected councillors. The defeated candidates for council were: C. E. F. Hiscocks and Michel Rosse. T. Frayer, the returning officer, will swear in the new council immediately and the first meeting of Blairmore's first town council will take place within a week.

George M. Cohen's "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" will appear at the opera house on Thursday night next.

P. Burns, the big cattle king of Calgary, is exerting his best influence towards settlement of the trouble between the miners and operators.

On Thursday evening last a wedding supper was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harmer at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Howe, State Street east. This young couple launched out upon the sea of matrimony on Saturday, October 14th. They have the good wishes of their many friends.

Queen Marie of Rumania spent her fifty-first birthday in Canada.

Nova Scotia Noted For Its Hunting Facilities

Reports of excellent big game hunting in Nova Scotia this season have been received at the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal. Hunters have returned with tales of super-moose, seemingly answered with more than usual cunning, thus adding to the interest in this sport. A large section of the interior is a maze of beautiful lakes, woods and streams where moose are plentiful despite the fact that about 1,500 bulls are killed by hunters each year between October 1st and November 15th, the open season. Cow moose and young calves are protected. Water approaches to the hunting grounds are but a short motor-ride from Digby and Antigonish Royal on the Dominion Atlantic Railway. Many hunters penetrate the wilderness by canoe from south Milford at the head of the Liverpool chain of lakes, or by motor truck which transports hunters, guides, duff and canoes to Kedegnapokee and other haunts of the moose. Some of the best guides are the Micmac Indians, there being also plenty of efficient white guides at Del Thomas's South Milford Camp and Kedegnapokee. But one bull moose may be bagged each season by a hunter. The majority of moose are killed each year in 12 of the 18 counties. Moose and caribou are plentiful on Cape Breton Island but the hunting of these animals at the present time is prohibited on the Island. Bear and wildcat, for which there is no closed season, roam the woods of Nova Scotia. Ruffed grouse, woodcock snipe, wild geese and many other varieties of small game are plentiful and afford the hunter every opportunity of an excellent hunting holiday. The province too is a mecca for the angler. The many streams and lakes abound with salmon and trout. Off the coast tuna, cod, haddock, pollock and flounder fishing is extensively indulged in.

PROMINENT VISITORS

Dr. Geo. Rice, chief engineer for the United States bureau of mines, Washington, D.C., was a Fernie visitor on Sunday and was the guest of Mr. B. Caulfield, superintendent of the mines at Coal Creek. Dr. Rice, who is investigating the recent explosion at Hillcrest on behalf of the Alberta government, was a Fernie visitor some years ago, when the bump question at Coal Creek was acute. During his visit here on Sunday he discussed the question of mine blowouts with Mr. Caulfield. Both of these gentlemen have interesting views on the cause of blowouts and as the mines in this district are more or less troubled in this way, any facts that can be gleaned from experience are extremely valuable to the mine industry. Supt. Caulfield, who has had many years of experience at Coal Creek and is one of the keenest students of the dangers of mining in this country, is a well of information to a man like Dr. Rice.

Dr. Rice was accompanied on his visit here by J. T. Stirling, chief inspector of mines for Alberta, and George Kellock, manager of the McGillivray mines—Fernie Free Press.

Teacher—"Now, Johnnie, tell us which is the least used bone in the human body?"

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Griffith were recent Lethbridge visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leigh have returned from a trip to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

On Thursday night a very interesting meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. P. McEwen. Arrangements were made for putting on a bungalow apron dance early in November.

On Monday, the ladies of the village put on a Halloween party for the children. The occasion proved a huge success, with the old-time games, songs, pranks, antics, etc. The costumes, pleasing, original and quaint as they were, of various cuts and colors, all seemed to fit in with the spirit of the evening. With the apples, candies, nuts and sandwiches, each and every one went home with a satisfied appetite.

Wife—"There was a poor woman here today after old clothes for her family."

Husband—"Did you give her any?"

Wife—"Yes, I gave her that 10-year-old suit of yours and that dress I bought last week."

The archbishop had preached a fine sermon on married life and its beauties. Two old Irishwomen coming out of church were heard commenting on the address.

"Tis a fine sermon his Riverence would be after givin' us," said one to the other.

"It is, indeed," was the quick reply, "and I wish I knew as little about the matter as he does."

Canada's Great Mission

To Draw United States Into Working Fellowship With Empire

The ten millions of Canadians, if they will can wield under the old flag more influence than any equal number of people elsewhere. Above all, Canada amongst the self-governing nations of the Empire has a position and a mission like no other. For three thousand miles her open frontier marches peacefully with that of the American Republic. If she can rise to the highest view of her destiny she will work deliberately, steadily, to harmonize her intimate neighborhood to the United States with her membership of the British Empire, and to draw the two systems into a working relationship which would lead the world—London Observer.

Tales Of Heroism

Radio Operator and Engineers
Firemen Stay With Sinking Ship

Perish

Tales of heroism on the part of the engineers and firemen and the radio operator are related by the twelve survivors of the crew of 35 of the British freighter Eastway, which went down off Bermuda in the recent hurricane.

The radio operator, R. James, was at his post, repeating his wireless call of distress and went down with his ship. Likewise, the engineers and firemen refused to make an attempt to enter the single remaining lifeboat and went to the bottom with the craft.

The twelve survivors who were picked up by the British schooner Luciline, have been brought to St. Georges by that vessel.

The rescued men say they had been for some time without water and had little food when the Luciline ran alongside and picked them up. They report that while they were at the mercy of the waves they were passed at close range by a larger steamer which ignored their rockets and other signals of distress.

Englishman Has Peculiar Job

Is Last Exponent of Ancient Art of Ox-Roasting

Fred Tyler, Stratford-on-Avon, the oldest surviving exponent of the ancient art of ox-roasting, was appointed official ox-roaster of the Manchester Civic Week Pageant.

This will be the 120th occasion in 40 years in which Mr. Tyler has been called upon to perform at public celebrations, during which time he has roasted 82 oxen and 30 pigs.

"I am at getting 5,000 sandwiches made from each ox," he said. "From the moment the fire is lit until the last slice is cut should not be more than ten hours. To make the job really nice I always leave the horns on during roasting and curl the tail of the ox. When it revolves on the spit in this condition many people think that the animal is being roasted alive, and they rush off to the police to make complaints of cruelty."

The largest ox roasted by Mr. Tyler was a 14 cwt. animal at the coronation celebrations at Newport, Monmouthshire.

A Permanent Agriculture

By C. W. Peterson

Canada faces a great social problem, namely, to make country life much more attractive than it has been in the past. Great progress has been made in that direction during the past decade. The motor car, good roads, the rural telephone and mail delivery, radio—all have made conspicuous contributions. The farmer through their co-operative institutions and by their own, unaided efforts, have taken mighty strides towards increased, rural prosperity and contentment. The urban people of Canada should, however, assiduously cultivate "agricultural-mindedness" and be actively sympathetic towards the efforts of the countryside to live the fuller life. That way only lies the path leading to a permanent agriculture. At present rural life is two generations behind the urban community in living conditions and the spectacular drift to the cities constitutes a demonstration against present inferior conditions of farm life compared with urban existence.

The sarcastic ranting about the "auto-riding" farmer and "back-to-the-buggy" should cease. We should, on the contrary, rejoice over every new farm auto and be thankful for every additional farm home getting away from the agricultural slum status through the adoption of modern sanitation. Unfriendly criticism of this nature has its moral effect upon the countryside and does its part in encouraging the drift from country to town. Inevitably followed by seasonal unemployment, with its concomitant—a lower wage scale and the further exploitation of our splendid, young manhood, after bearing the not inconsiderable burdens of the unproductive period and the cost of education.

Aside from the present details, and often impatient, attitude of town towards countryside cannot fail to further intensify the notorious political drift away from rural problem and towards centralization upon the more spectacular, urban issues, identical to the complex civilization of modern times. In a preponderantly agricultural country such as ours, this world-wide tendency should be checked at any cost and a more sympathetic understanding developed. In deed as well word, between urban and rural interests, Canada has much to learn in that direction. With a new slant on this important problem and a genuine desire to lift agriculture up to its proper position, Canada can with confidence invite new settlers to cast their fortunes in this country and with every hope of success.

British Papers Merge

Daily Sketch and Sunday Herald Now Under One Control

The latest of the many newspaper fusions on the large scale which have taken place in London within recent years, brings the Daily Sketch and the Sunday Herald under the control of what is known as the Berry group of ownership. The principals in this group are Sir William Berry and Mr. J. Gomer Berry, the concern as a whole being a public company with the title, Allied Newspapers, Limited.

This company now owns all the newspapers formerly under the chief control of the late Sir Edward Hulton, with the exception of the Evening Standard, of which Lord Beaverbrook is the chief proprietor.

THE FALL OF JERICHO

Golden Text: This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith. 1 John 4.

Lesson: Joshua, 6:1-20.

Devotional Reading: Psalm, 66:1-9.

Explanations and Comments

1. "Directions for the Capture of Jericho verses 1-7."—"Now Jericho was straitly shut up because of the children of Israel; none went out and none came in." The Israelites had crossed the Jordan bearing at the head of the marching hosts the ark, the symbol of their religion, and their coming had struck terror into the hearts of the people of Jericho. The latter received strange directions as to the silent compassing of the city. "Ye must not shout," Joshua commanded the people, "nor let your voice be heard, neither shall any word proceed out of your mouth, until the day after day without result. Yet the consecutive days of marching were the preparation for the seventh day with its shouts of victory. To many people their lives day after day seem but a treadmill existence. Thirty-two per cent of all the suicides are said to take place on Monday. May we not infer this to be because the discouraged beings cannot face another week like all those that have preceded it? Yet the monotonous weeks are a preparation, a discipline, for "the good success" that must be theirs who persevere in the life wherein God has placed them.

Contractor Found Way To Health

After Suffering Tortures From Indigestion and Run-Down Condition, He Quickly Regains Health And Strength. Takes Tanlac.

Edison Bradshaw, a successful Toronto contractor, 413 Wellesley Street, says: "I hope my story will be the means of helping others who suffered as I did. I feel like a new man, thanks to Tanlac."

"Before taking Tanlac I doctored for nervous prostration but seemed to be getting worse. I had no appetite and when I forced myself to eat the pains from indigestion were torture. My heart bothered me after the slightest exertion. I was nervous and irritable and could scarcely sleep. At times I would doze off, then suddenly my muscles would twitch and I would awake with a start. I was almost in despair."

"Nothing seemed to help me, until I started to take Tanlac. The first two bottles made me feel so much better that I kept on taking it. Now my appetite is very good, stomach normal, nerves in good shape. I can sleep well at night, in fact have entirely recovered."

"I heartily recommend Tanlac because I feel sure it will do for others what it has done for me in restoring my health."

"Tanalac has helped thousands of men and women. It is nature's own remedy made from roots and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula. The little bottle, as a rule, brings wonderful relief. Keep up the treatment, and see how quickly you will grow stronger and healthier."

"Don't neglect your health, don't suffer needlessly but begin taking this marvelous tonic now. Ask your druggist for Tanlac today."

She saw the stubbornness that she always hated, settle deeper in his eyes. "No," he returned, "I'd never live with you in a house you'd paid for, even with money given for a reason that I hope will turn out to be all right. You see, I too, have plans. You know them, even if you never cared much about listening to them. I want to make my way. The career I want is one that can't be bought. You can't give it to me like you would a birthday present. Different, you see, from yours."

She looked at him from widened eyes. She wondered at her own calm. She was not hurt, as she had been that night at Mr. Adams' house when John repudiated her. He was not doing that sort of thing again. Now he was quiet, stubbornly taking himself out of her life, or rather thrusting her out of his.

A wild impulse to run up stairs, wrap herself in a shawl, and run out into the street with him, thrilled her for a moment and then lapsed into the deadly calm that puzzled her.

"But John," she said, "I love you. I have always loved you. Why must you make such a fuss about the money? It won't change me, not so much as it has changed you?" He interrupted her. "That's just it! It won't change you. It has only brought you out of yourself, and revealed you. This sort of thing won't get you any place in the end. It is not the background for a girl, no matter how good a girl I believe, Jo, as I always have, that you're good. I will stay good just as long as you can. I shall always."

"want you, but I just can't have you. Can't?"

His last words were a pleading for his justification. It would have been better, perhaps, if he had not spoken them. They reminded Joanna that he was one who would not, could not, understand her, or, one like her. Still she wasn't hurt. She suffered, because her heart was turning over. She longed for him, wanted to yield to him as he would have had her yield to his fears for her and to his ideas that she should be some other kind of girl, but she realized that it would all be useless. She would never be content with all enchantments taken out of the world that had, suddenly, become so lavish with her.

"But John," she said, "I love you, I have always loved you."

"Then you won't be coming back, you won't accept things as they are and come back to me?" she asked.

"If you still want me, when I have made my own way, and have money of my own, I will be wanting you," he said, slowly. She probed his words and understood what he really meant. "You mean," she said, "that you will want me enough, even, to take me no matter what I shall have become, by then? Isn't that it?" He wouldn't answer her. She continued:

"Was it because you think that I should be dumb, and a kill joy, and go into a shell and hide except when some prudish chaperone is satisfied that I have enough clothes outside of me and enough false shyness inside of me to make it safe for her to take me out for a walk in a churchyard, that you spent more than an hour and a half with Yvonne? She doesn't walk about with her eyes on the ground and her mind on the purities of the lady. Didn't you suffer—all alone with her?"

"We were talking of you," he replied, shortly.

"Yes," she retorted, her eyes narrowed a bit, "there's a man who coaxed me into the winter garden just a little while ago, and spent the whole time talking of his wife." She knew that she was being utterly foolish and childish, and irrelevant. But, still, she watched John curiously. For some reason he thought it necessary to explain.

"When I told her I was going and wanted to say goodnight, as I should, she brought me in here. Before I realized it I was in her arms, and she was saying to me, 'Why I can't have you. That was all. She told me, of course, that I was a fool. She is one who would think so.'"

"And so am I, John," Joanna said, quickly.

Kenworthy opened the door. When he saw that John was there, still there, he would have gone away and closed the door behind him. Joanna called him back.

"Mr. Wilmore is just leaving," she explained, eyeing John, coolly. "And I don't want to go out and dance just yet. I want you to stay in here and talk to me."

It would have been an awkward moment if Roddy had been one over to be at a loss to meet any situation. His wisdom seldom failed. He chafed her and said good night to the younger man with an ease that cleared the atmosphere. When John went out Joanna did not get up from the couch. She held out her hand to him and when he took it she wrapped her fingers about his and held them for a moment. There were no words between them.

Roddy went over and gently closed the door, which John had left open. When he stood over the girl her head had dropped onto her arm. She had drawn her knees under her. As Roddy took note of her he concluded that just then she was not thinking of herself, or of anything about herself. He instinctively sensed the glow of a scale beam, weighted at either end with two precious bits of magic. And he knew that one end of the scale was slowly dropping. He wondered which end would be the heavier.

Without a warning rattle the limp figure on the couch straightened and rose. Roddy knew how the scale had turned. He was startled by the change in Joanna. Her pulse was now, and almost regular. There was something laughing and something else defiant and dangerous in her.

"I wonder," she asked him, striding him with a look from between her lids that he had not caught before, "if you would think me very silly if I should ask you to do a very silly thing?"

His answer was the obvious one. And it was obvious, also, that he should go a little closer to her. The message in her eyes made it so. "I want you to kiss me," she said.

He drew her up to him hastily. His lips had almost brushed hers when she suddenly pressed him back—again that trick with her hands. "I want to tell you something first," she said. "It isn't you, Roddy, that I want to kiss me—anyone would do just now. There's something on my lips, something that was put there a little while ago. I want to take it off—needs a kiss to do it. Because you happen to be here I am asking you. You see I must be fair with you—since I am doing the asking."

"One explains a kiss afterwards, never before," he murmured and caught her hands and held them. She yielded her lips completely. She felt that she was being wrapped in a burst of flame. She closed her eyes so that she would not see what was in his, but she gave herself to the kisses without stint. When he released her she said:

"There! You mustn't spoil it by demanding another. I want to go to the party, now, and dance. And I am going to flirt outrageously with Teddy Dorninister. He has been begging me to discover how sentimental he can be. But I still want you to do something else for me. I want you to make sure that Yvonne knows you kissed me, and that I loved it. You don't need to say I asked you. You may say that I didn't take my lips away."

Within half an hour Joanna was hidden away, in the safest corner of the winter garden, with young Teddy. She had promised him only fifteen minutes. She granted him but a few more, despite his pleadings that she couldn't grant an eternity into such a Roddy Kenworthy, when he had turned her over to Dorninister, went back into the morning room. When he made himself a drink, out of the bottles in the cabinet, he settled back in a chair and fell to studying the ceiling. When Yvonne looked in he explained that his brain had become confused around a continuum and that he couldn't take an interest in anything or anybody outside until he'd straightened it out.

A New Hobby For Women

Remarkable Interest Is Now Being Taken In Basketry

Most people will have noted the remarkable growth of interest in basketry of late years. At last women have a hobby offered them far more interesting to the average person than sewing, which does not affect the eyes and develops a decided creative ability. Precisely all of the Federal and provincial institutes in Canada are promoting this work, as are also numbers of the schools, with the result that many people are finding that they can combine pleasure with usefulness in filling in their spare time at a pleasant hobby and at the same time furnish all the small articles of furniture which are so necessary to the comfortable home.

His search of the office revealed nothing of value except a key, which he discovered in a corner of a desk. He tried the key on the safe, and found that the safe opened easily. He then helped himself to $20 in money and a $200 cheque for $4,600, and made his escape. The key was a spare one which had lain in the desk undisturbed for twenty years.

Phone Service Across Atlantic

Will Soon Inaugurate Regular Service Between London and New York. The London Daily Express says that commercial radio telephone service between New York and London will be inaugurated before the end of the year. Experiments which have been in progress for two years by the Radio Corporation of America and the radio branch of the British Post Office, it adds, have resulted in overcoming the difficulties which hitherto prevented regular communication, and experts are now engaged in trying to find the best wave length and the most favorable transmission hours.

The Express states that the time now required to make the necessary preliminary connections for a transatlantic radio telephonic conversation is no longer than a telephone connection between London and Manchester and that the sounds will soon be just as distinct.

Says Modern Faces Lapsed

Symmetry Destroyed By Greater Use of Right Eye

Modern faces are too lopsided to meet the beauty requirements of the old masters, says H. L. Taylor, chairman of the British National Council for the Preservation of Symmetry. Men, and especially intellectual men, are much more likely, in his opinion, to have the right side of the face more developed than the left side. This is due to using the right eye excessively, with the result that it eventually moves away from the nose further than the left eye.

Modern women also suffer from this defect, Mr. Taylor declares. He says it is rarely that one finds women with the symmetrical, oval face painted by Michael Angelo and Raphael. Even in Italy these types are not now numerous among peasant women.

McKellop's Asthma Remedy bring prompt relief, but it introduces a new era of life for the afflicted. Systematic inhaling of smoke or fumes from the remedy prevents re-attacks and often effects a permanent cure.
